

NECROMUNDA

ASHGATE

GUILD BULLETIN

The guild is issuing a ziggurat level warning to all members in the Ashgate area.

As was previously predicted, the power vacuum in Ashgate left after enforcer crackdowns has sparked a new wave of dispute between house sponsored gangs. So far gangs from at least one house Cawdor, three house Escher, one Van Saar and possibly a house Orlock, have been reported to be fighting over territories left "unclaimed".

New informants have come forward as gang violence threatens to spill out into residential zones of Ashgate. Reports compiled from these informants and rumours gathered by guilders indicate that the house Escher sponsored gang called "Swift Vengeance" scuffled with a mining crew from the sub-G district calling themselves the forwarned. This skirmish left the leader of Swift Vengeance dead but The Forewarned were forced into retreat, allowing the former to lay claim to a Bone Shrine near the inner gate.

Two other house Escher sponsored gangs, going by the monikers of "Silver City Psyrens" and the "Void Witches" were seen clashing over a Stinger Mould Spore on the outskirts of town. The Void Witches apparently took heavy casualties and fled, leaving the territory in the hands of the SCP.

Rumours are that the Void Witches who remained uninjured mounted a raid upon the SCP to rescue a captured ganger. The Void Witches have been seen at full strength since so it can be inferred that the raid was successful. The Silver City Psyrens are claiming that they now control the Old Ruins, so it is possible that the Void Witches were forced to trade their claim on the territory.

Later reports from the same informant, told of a crushing defeat for Swift Vengeance at the hands the SCP. The Psyrens laying claim to an illicit Prometheum Cache and inflicting enough casualties on their opponents that Swift Vengeance was forced to disband.

The same informant also reported that SCP were returning to their hideout after their skirmish with Swift Vengeance when they were set upon by the house Van Saar sponsored "Black Omega Delta" gang. The BOD managed to kill one of the Escher champions and forced the Psyrens into retreat while suffering no lasting injuries in return. BOD now claim the tunnels beneath Ashgate as their territory and are denying access to both gangs and guilders.

The SCP tried to recoup their reputation later in the cycle by laying claim to a disputed territory that The Forewarned were also laying claim to. The Workshop near the extraction tower became a battlefield as the show of force became a gunfight. The Forwarned apparently gunned down Perry, the leader of the Psyrens, and the house Escher gang failed to save face when they were forced to retreat once more.

It was soon after this, that reports came in telling of a hit that had been placed on the preacher of the Brethren of Bones. The rumour mill indicates that the reward for his assassination was enough to coax house Escher to reform the remnants of Swift Vengeance into a new gang calling themselves "Swift Victory". The reformed gang assaulted the Brethren of Bones as they tried to claim the Synth Still, and critically injured the preacher. Swift Victory claims the territory as theirs now, and the Brethren of Bones were refused medical treatment for their dying leader when they failed to produce enough credits to pay the doc.

NECROMUNDA

ASHGATE

GUILD BULLETIN

There is no indication yet, as to who placed the hit on the preacher.

The speed and aggression of this new wave of gang violence has exceeded the guilds expectations. With little to no enforcer presence to count on for the next few cycles, guilders are expected to provide their own protection from the expanded budget provided.

The following gangs are being monitored in the settlement of Ashgate:

Gang Name	Rating	Rep	Turf Size
Silver City Psyrens	1150	4	4
Void Witches	1090	3	1
The Forewarned	1050	5	2
Black Omega Delta	1000	4	2
Swift Victory	960	6	2
Brethren of Bones	760	1	1

The following areas of Ashgate and its surrounds are considered gang territory. Some have being claimed while others are still in dispute:

Workshop: The Forewarned
Refuse Drift:
Mine Workings:
Sludge Sea:
Generatorium:
Promethium Cache: Silver City Psyrens
Tunnels: Black Omega Delta
Stinger Mould Sprawl: Silver City Psyrens
Toll Crossing:
Corpse Farm:
Tech Bazaar:
Collapsed Dome:
Bone Shrine:*
Settlement:
Narco Den:
Rogue Doc Shop:
Old Ruins: Silver City Psyrens
Synth Still: Swift Victory

*After Swift Vengeance was refounded, they lost their claim on the Bone Shrine.

